A. J. Miller, Esq.,

Assistant Treasurer, Cleveland Chamber of Commerce.

Dear Mr. Miller:

I have to thank you for your letter and am glad to know that what I said at the Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday was appreciated. I certainly enjoyed my visit to you very much.

With regard to my expenses I think that twenty-six dollars ($26.00) will cover what I paid in going and coming, though I did not keep an exact account.

Will you also thank Mr. Havens for the guess of the gentleman who were at the table with me?

With kind regards, I am,

Yours sincerely,

President.

Sir Robert Falconer,

President, The University of Toronto,

Toronto, Ontario.

Dear Sir: We are enclosing herewith our check to cover the expenses on your recent visit to Cleveland. The amount of your account is so small that we are fearful that you may have overlooked some item in making up your statement. We should regret it if you would be money out of pocket. Please do not hesitate to let us know if by any chance you did not render a full account. I hope you will not measure our grateful appreciation of the courtesy you have shown us by our inability to do more than reimburse you for your outlay.

Very truly yours,

A. J. Miller
